Grant Beard
Artist Statement

For this project, I am showing a series of photographs that express aspects of history and futuristic knowledge. Three of my images are reflecting the old history of Hannibal Square and resemble the community that has been built there. The last three of my images are showing the modernized version of Hannibal Square and identify the community's change within time. My goal as a photographer is to show the viewer an aspect of historical urban society and how our state of Florida is constantly changing roots of society.

My goal is to show the viewer there is another side of Winter Park and how one neighborhood can change within a mile from town. I want to resemble the African-American community and their background they have built within this neighborhood. I want to show my viewers the revolution of time and the constant change within our community. My photographs will give viewers a clear sense on what the community was and what the community will be in the near future.
